

Aleph Track Student Workbook

Hebrew for Every Grade, Every Beginning

Ivrit HaOr
LuminaNexus Foundation

Student Name: _____

Hebrew Name: _____

My Hebrew Beginning
Hebrew is new to my eyes.
That is okay.

Every student begins somewhere.
Every letter is a beginning.

In this workbook, I will learn to:

see Hebrew letters follow Hebrew from right to left trace letters carefully find letters inside words
notice small marks
ask good questions
grow with courage

I do not have to know everything today.

I begin with the silent letters, and learn how they breathe.

- Lesson 1 Opening the Hebrew Doorway
 - Hebrew Begins on the Right
 - Aleph and Ayin - The Quiet Letters
 - The Stick Vowel – say “Ahhh”

- Hebrew Begins on the Right

- Aleph and Ayin - The Quiet Letters

Big Idea

Aleph and Ayin are Hebrew letters.

Aleph is:

Ayin is:

These letters are special.

They are often quiet letters.

That means they do not usually make a strong sound by themselves.

They help carry the vowel sound.

Teacher says:

“Aleph and Ayin are quiet letters. Quiet does not mean unimportant.”

Student says:

“Aleph and Ayin are quiet letters.”

Look and Notice

Look at Aleph:

Look at Ayin:

They are not the same.

Aleph looks one way.

Ayin looks another way.

Point and Say

Point to Aleph.

Say:

“Aleph.”

Now point to Ayin.

Say:

“Ayin.”

Circle the Aleph

Circle every Aleph.

א ב א ע א

Circle the Ayin

Circle every Ayin.

ע ב ע א ע

Teacher Question

Which letter is Aleph?

Which letter is Ayin?

Student Answer

Aleph is: _____

Ayin is: _____

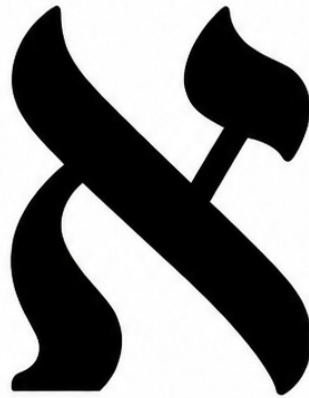

I Can Say

I can say:

“Aleph and Ayin are quiet letters.”

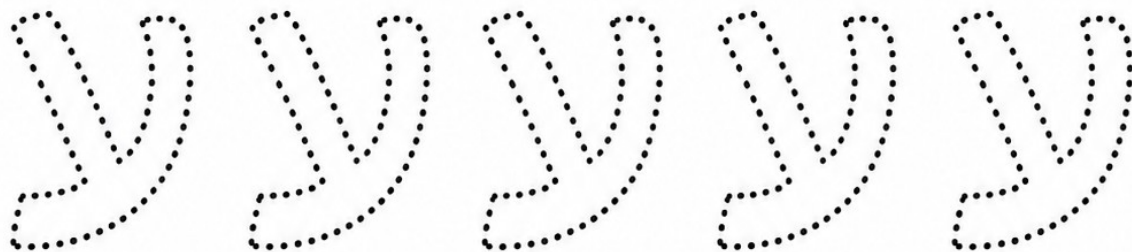

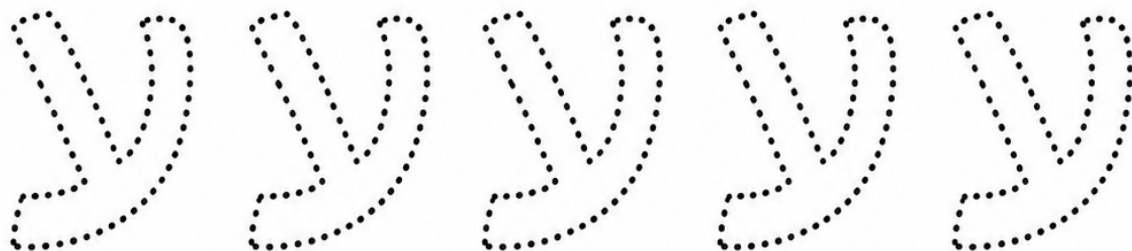

Trace Aleph

Trace the Aleph letters.

Trace Ayin

Trace the Ayin letters.

Confidence Check

Confidence Check

Color the stars that show what you can do.

 I am still learning Aleph and Ayin.	 I can point to Aleph and Ayin.	 I can tell Aleph and Ayin apart.
 I can trace Aleph.	 I can trace Ayin.	 I can find Aleph.
 I can find Ayin.	 I can write Aleph.	 I can write Ayin.

Every beginning matters!

The Stick Vowels

The Stick Vowels

Both vowels say 'ahhh'.

The stick vowel looks like a little stick.
The stick vowel with a handle looks like a stick with a handle.
A doctor uses a stick and asks you to say 'ahhh.'
Both of these vowels make the sound 'ahhh.'

Hebrew reads from right to left.

1

= ahh

2

= ahh

3

= ahh

4

= ahh

Hidden discovery

Closing Sentence

Today I learned that Hebrew reads right to left, that Aleph and Ayin are silent without a vowel. And I learned my first vowel, the stick vowel

- Lesson 2
- Bet and Vet
- The Pea Vowel

Meet Bet and Vet

Big Idea

Bet and Vet look almost the same.

Look and Notice

Look at Bet:

ב

Look at Vet:

ב

They have the same letter shape.

Bet has a dot inside.

Vet has an empty space inside.

Bet has the ball.

Vet has the void.

Circle the Bet

Circle every Bet.

ב ב ב א ב

Circle the Vet

Circle every Vet.

ב ב ע ב ב

Teacher Question

How can you tell Bet and Vet apart?

Student Answer

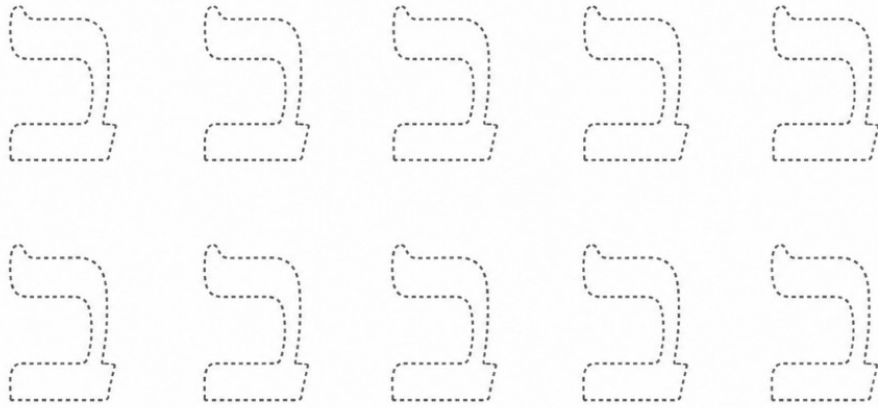

Bet has a _____.

Vet has no _____.

Trace Vet

Trace the Vet letters.

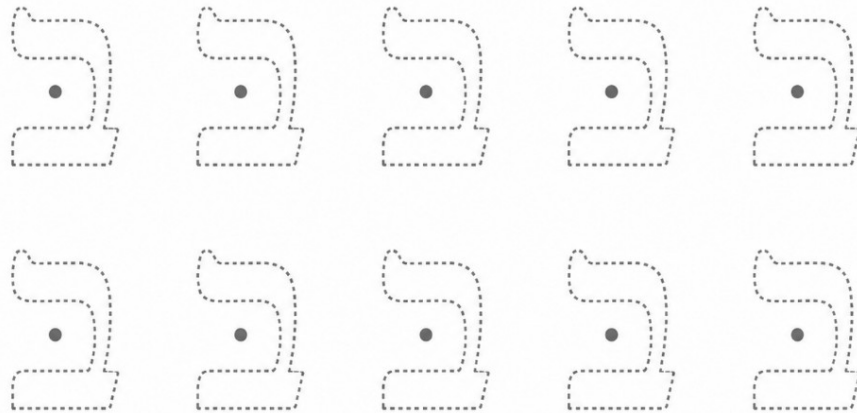

ו

Trace Bet

Trace the Bet letters.

ב

Teacher Question

What should you look for inside Bet?

Student Answer

I should look for the

_____.

Chavruta Question

Ask Chavruta or your teacher:

“How are Bet and Vet different?”

Closing Sentence

Today I learned that Bet has a dot and Vet has no dot.